UNCOVER HUGE SWINDLE RING

Mrs. Blackledge Said To Be Only One of Many Prominent Victims.

LOOT SET AT $250,000

Unnamed U. S. Senator Listed Among Persons Fleeced by Crooks.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Jan 26—Reports that Mrs. Myrtle Tanner Blackledge former internal revenue collector, was but one of many recent prominent victims fleeced of huge sums by a ring of confidence men were circulated today.

The Herald and Examiner said that three groups of swindlers, interchanging personnel to meet the requirements of various types of crooked deals, had robbed their victims of more than $250,000 in the last six months. An unnamed United States senators, the paper said, lost $68,000 in a racing racket, while David Tinkham, an Englishman, gave up $33,000 in a stock swindle

Another victim, a Chicago business leader whose identity was not revealed, was swindled out of $90,000 but regained $82,000 in a compromise with the swindlers, who involved him in a faro game—a racket similar to the one in which Mrs. Blackledge reported that she lost $50,000 borrowed from Edward R. Litsinger, prominent Chicagoan, in a Springfield, Ill., hotel.

Lose $1,000 to $60,000

Julius Frank, a German subject, lost $50,000 and a dozen other men, all prominent in business, politics or society paid sums ranging from $1,000 to $60,000.

JUDGE FREES SEVEN BOYS ON PROBATION

Lads at Home Are Back in School Today After Crime Quiz.

Seven of the 11 boys held several days at the detention home in connection with police investigations of six recent burglaries are in school or at home today, free on probation.

If they show Probate Judge Gast their intentions are good and if reports of their conduct are improved there will be nothing more said about their confessed participation in the crimes.

Three others have yet to hear their fate. The remaining one must spend several months in the Boys' Industrial school at Lancaster. He was on probation under a recent misdeed when he was apprehended in connection with the burglaries

These are the developments today in the extensive crime probe launched last Monday by city police. To date seven of the 18 persons involved in the probe have been sentenced.

Discipline imposed on the juveniles Saturday morning when their conduct at the detention home became disorderly won almost instant results. When Judge Gast returned to the home yesterday, he found the boys, under confinement and on rations of bread, butter and milk, had changed their attitude. Instead of disorderly, most were repentant and were considering their misdeeds seriously, Judge Gast said. The seven were released last night.

Those on probation are under restrictions. Their conduct will be closely observed, and they will not be allowed on the streets after dark. Other rules of conduct were prescribed for them by Judge Gast

Average Collection Is $20,080 a Day; Time Extended to Feb. 1.

Tax collections in Marion county are continuing to hold a higher daily average this year than last, figures released today by County Treasurer Bert J. Shelton show.

Although the total this year is only $582,324 91 as compared to $706,971.56 for the same date a year ago, the average is $20,080 as compared to $19 640 a year ago due to the fact that the collection began seven days later this year.

MOTHER ASKS FOR CLEMENCY

Appeals to Governor in Behalf of Condemned Galion Slayer.

SLATED TO DIE FRIDAY

Says Massa Not "Beast" as Pictured by County Prosecutor.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jan 26—An appeal for executive clemency for Fred Massa, one of three slayers condemned to die in the electric chair Friday night was made to Governor White today, by his mother, Mrs Emma Massa of Mansfield

Massa was convicted with Earl Sites and Kenneth McCartney of killing Ralph Wilcox, Galion filling station attendant during a robbery last June. The supreme court refused to grant them new trials last week and their only hope now rests with the governor and the board of clemency.

Mrs Massa, the mother of five boys and four girls, walked into the executive offices accompanied by her sons, Paul 16, and Charles 13 She made no formal application for clemency but expressed her sentiments orally, and in a written statement to Alfred C Crouse, the governor's secretary

She told Crouse that she thought the sentence was too severe and that she felt it her duty to suggest that the clemency board take some action.

In her written statement she declared that the evidence introduced at the trials did not show premeditation and that the prosecutor had prejudiced the jury by characterizing her son "an inhuman beast" On the contrary, everyone who knows "Fred," liked him and admired him, she said.

Mrs Massa also protested that the facts had been misrepresented to the jury. She said the confessions of the condemned men all showed that Wilcox fired at them first and claimed to have wounded one, whereas the jury was told that Wilcox did not have a chance.

The matter has been turned over to Governor White and there was no indication today what action would be taken. So far the attorneys for Sites and McCartney have not applied for clemency.

Blood of Parrot Used in Transfusion by Mistake

By United Press.

JOLIET, Ill., Jan. 26—The blood of a parrot flowed today through the veins of Lillian Fisher, 15-year-old infantile paralysis victim, apparently without harmful result, although it was injected in a transfusion operation through misunderstanding of a telephone consultation.

A Joliet physician seeking the advice of Dr. George Weaver, Chicago specialist, regarding the girl's treatment, was told to use the "parents' blood" in a transfusion operation.

The physician understood Dr. Weaver to have said "parrots blood" with the explanation that a "new method" had been discovered. The physician caused a search to be made for a suitable bird. A Joliet woman finally submitted her parrot for the operation.

Five cubic centimeters of blood were transferred from the parrot's heart to the girl's veins by intermuscular injection. Lillian, who was in a critical condition rallied immediately, recovering from a state of coma.

The parrot which had been given an anesthetic, came out of the ether with spirited comments, and suffered no ill effects from the unusual surgery.

Dr. Weaver would not comment today on the value of parrots' blood for transfusions. Other medical authorities expressed the opinion that such transfusions could not be harmful and might be beneficial.

By The Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES Jan 26 Sentencing of Daisy De Boe for the alleged theft of $825 from Clara Bow was postponed today until next Monday by Judge William Doran when defense council made motion for a new trial and asked a delay to permit preparation of arguments.

A letter was received by District Attorney Buron Fitts this morning from Clara expressing the actress' hope "that mercy will be shown to Daisy De Boe." It read.

"My Dear Mr Fitts I am not sure to whom this letter should be addressed, or whether it is even proper under the circumstances to even write it, but I find myself unable to avoid letting you know that it is my hope that mercy will be shown to Daisy De Boe

"The fact is that I never would have called this matter to your attention in the first place if Daisy De Boe had not threatened to blackmail me and I had no other way to protect myself except to come to your office and follow your advice

"If it is right for you to do so I wish you would tell the judge about this letter.

"Sincerely yours,

"Clara Bow"

JUDGE RULES MINT MACHINES ILLEGAL

Canton Judge Refuses To Enjoin Officers from Interfering with Devices.

By The Associated Press.

CANTON, O., Jan. 26—Judicial decision of state-wide interest was handed down in common pleas court here today when Judge Joseph L. Floyd refused to enjoin enforcement officers in Canton and Alliance from interfering with the operation of mint-vending machines owned by the Superior Confection Co., of Columbus.

Several weeks ago police in the two cities confiscated a number of the machines on the theory that they were being used as gambling devices. At that time the company submitted an application to Judge E. W. Diehl in another branch of the court seeking a temporary order restraining all executive officials generally in the county from seizing the machines.

Judge Issues Ruling

In refusing to grant temporary relief, Judge Diehl held that the company had another remedy at law in the filing of replevin and damage suits to recover machines unlawfully confiscated. Recently the case was heard on its merits before Judge Floyd. At this hearing the company dismissed the petition as against all defendants except the executive officers in Canton and Alliance.

GANDHI FREED WHILE TROOPS GUARD ROADS

Indian Leader Secretly Removed and Rushed to Railway Station.

BEGINS TRIP TO BOMBAY

Crowds Waiting Outside Jail Fail To Get Glimpse of Leader.

By The Associated Press

POONA, India, Jan 26 Mahatma Gandhi frail 61 year-old leader of the Indian Nationalists, was released from prison Monday night shortly after 11 p m. (noon Monday Marion time) on a decree from the viceroy

They took him out the back way secretly, bundled him into a closed automobile with drawn curtains and drove to a small railway station about 10 miles from Poona where authorities put him on a Bombay train

The little old man wore only his usual homespun linen cloth and a thin cotton shawl over his shoulders He was thin and worn

With him on the train was the woman nationalist, Mrs Sarojini Naidu, India's leading poetess Along the roads through which the automobile raced were posted armed sentries who turned back cars which sought to follow the Mahatma

Hour Kept Secret

None but a few persons including the Associated Press correspondent, knew in advance the exact hour at which this midnight "flight" would take place

The authorities had maintained the closest secrecy regarding Gandhi's release as a precaution against demonstrations by his followers.

All day and all night crowds in which there were many women waited outside the jail hoping for a fleeting glimpse of the man who would lead India's 320,000,000 out of the shadow of British rule and into the full light of freedom They were disappointed

For the five hour ride by train to Bombay he and Mrs Naidu were given ordinary passenger quarters on a regular train and allowed four Hindu attendants

Authorities Worried

His decision to make Bombay his destination when leaving the prison aroused considerable anxiety among authorities, who feared demonstrations with possible bloodshed and rioting when he reaches the city, where his popularity is a kind of worship

Gandhi, mute, had nothing to write about the decree of the viceroy granting him and his fellows on the working committee of the all India National Congress, Nationalist organization their freedom

It is presumed they will get together at the first opportunity and make their decision of rejection or acceptance to the British offer of qualified dominion status for India as expressed by Prime Minister MacDonald in closing the round table conference in London last week

At Spinning Wheel

The Mahatma spent today in prison at his miniature spinning wheel He observes his period of silence every Monday as a sort of "tonic and rest" for his soul"

It's a Puzzle

(Will Rogers Special)

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 26—The Wickersham report has divided parties and individuals into the following classification:

The "retainists," that's the one that want to retain the amendment and the liquor that goes with it

The "abolitionists," those are the ones that want the amendment abolished, and retain the liquor.

Then there is the "appropriationists," they want some money appropriated whether it's abolished or retained

Then there is the "state riters," they want their state to handle the revenue that comes from liquor under the present plan or under any proposed plan.

Then the big majority belong to the "willing to be convinced as soon as they see how the people will vote" plan.

Kind of got Mr. Hoover hanging on the fringes of that group. Yours.

SPORT PUNCH

by KARL R. McELROY

THIS year of 1931 may see the harness racing racket make a desperate bid for existence and already the Grand circuit has lost one city with another threatening to kick over the traces.

While the Big time seems to be losing out to some extent the Short Ship boys have launched an ambitious program which may return it to its old time prestige. As far as Ohio is concerned it may become THE racing circuit.

Toledo with its Fort Miami track has withdrawn from the Grand Circuit in favor of the ponies. It seems that the old parti-mutuals have not been doing their share of the business in the northern Ohio town and promoters of the track seem to think the cash patrons not sufficient reasons to keep on going. Fort Miami fans will remember, was the first big time track to go night.

NORTH RANDALL at Cleveland is threatening to walk out of the Big Lane. Failure to land the $25,000 Hamiltonian stake is one of the big reasons why Cleveland is dissatisfied with the way events are running.

The Short Ship is showing the first signs of real life since the Cleveland New Cranwood and Brooklyn Park tracks withdrew several years ago. Thirteen weeks of racing with several new towns on the circuit have been announced.

If plans of the Marion Driving association go through, the racing game locally is expected to surpass all previous records of popularity. Night events are expected to make the turnstiles click a merrier tune.

EFFORTS to bring the wrestling game to some sort of a head are being made by the Mid-West Wrestling association since its organization several weeks ago. The association took over control of the game after the National Boxing association decided that boxers were easier to control than the mat men.

The Mid-West can go far to improve wrestling if it can wield its power effectively. The organization is made up of promoters and managers in this section of the United States.

One of the first steps to be taken by the association is the matter of championships. Every division has more men claiming the top rung than there are spenkensies in a large city

According to Chob Sissons, president of the M. W. A., it is going to be mighty hard to keep John Pesek off the heavyweight throne. He points to his record as compared to the activities of Gus Sonnenberg and Jim Londos, the other two leading contenders of the division.

In the middleweight class Gus Kallio, according to Sissons, has the best claim. It will be necessary for Joe Banaski and "Pinkie" Gardner to settle the matter of the light heavyweight crown. At present Sissons believes they are the outstanding of their class.

A muddle is presented by the welterweight division. There Charles Pesek, Tobin Reed, Charley Grip and Pete Metropoulis are making loud bids for recognition

To make things more interesting, valuable belts are being offered to the champions of each division.

SHOVEL CLUB DROPS GAME TO COLUMBUS Y. M. C. A. FIVE 35-23

Bill Roush Is Oustanding Marion Performer as Locals Lose Contest.

THE Columbus Y - Collegians proved too strong for the Shovel Y-Indus basketball club Saturday night and handed the local champions a 35 to 23 beating on the Shovel court. The Y-Indus staged one its characteristic last period rallies but it did little more than threaten a close final score.

Paced by a trio of the cleverest performance seen on the Shovel court this season, Tapp, Brannon and El. Becker, the Columbus club outplayed the Marion five throughout the greater potrion of the game. They jumped into the lead as the gun cracked and were never headed.

Bill Roush, who played at guard the opening half and at forward the rest of the game turned in a sterling exhibition of all-round basketball for Marion. Roush drew two of the prize Columbus assignments to guard in the opening half Such of Ohio State and Tapp of Purdue and neither of them scored a point while he was at guard. He was easily the outstanding performer for the Y-Indus. After being shifted to forward in the second half he collected three buckets to place second in the scoring

The usual accuracy of the Y Indus in shooting baskets was missing all during the game Out of 66 attempts for field goals 10 were

LaRue Finishes Fast To Beat Business-College

In a preliminary to the Shovel Y-Indus Columbus game Saturday night the LaRue girls defeated the Marion Business College girls 12 to 9 in a dull contest. The Business college sextet led the game in the first half but couldn't withstand an opponent's rally in the last half

'NATURAL' BOUT TOPS MAT SHOW TONIGHT

"Hardy" Kruskamp, "Dude" Chick Battle to Draw Unusually Large Crowd.

Headed by the "natural" between "Hardy" Kruskamp and "Dude" Chick, the wrestling match at the Steam Shovel gym tonight is expected to draw an exceptionally large crowd.

In matching Kruskamp and Chick, promoters are bringing together two exceptionally rough boys. Kruskamp, the former Ohio State football star, has carried his gridiron tactics into the ring.

Although comparatively new to the wrestling game, Kruskamp has put his flying tackle to good use and now is advancing rapidly toward the upper rung in the mat ladder.

Chick will have quite a time avoiding "Hardy's" flying tackle. This crashing hold seldom falls once it starts working. Chick, however, is the roughest sort of a wrestler who comes from Texas.

In a telegram accepting the match, Chick told promoters that he is confident of being able to handle the big grid star. Chick lost a match to Kruskamp recently when he was disqualified by the referee for being too rough. The Texas cowboy plans to avenge that defeat tonight.

The action and roughness of the main go is expected to be duplicated in the semi-final when Joe Shimkus and Clyde Robinson clash for 30 minutes at 185 pounds. Shimkus holds a victory over "Gentle John" Kilonis while Robinson has been showing up well with several of the top-notchers in the light heavyweight ranks.

The first preliminary will get under way at 8:15.

FINDLAY BOWLERS GO INTO TOURNEY LEAD

Recreation Five Bangs Pins for 2,933 in 3 Games; Robling Rolls 200.

The Findlay Recreation bowlers banged the pins yesterday for a total of 2933 in three games to take the lead in the second annual sweepstakes bowling tournament of the Marion Recreation Bowling alleys. The total was high for the day and one of the highest ever rolled on the local alleys. Their highest single game total was 1094, a new record for the Marion alleys. The team is now in first place in the tourney.

Robling of the Mathy Food Market five of Columbus turned in the highest single game of the day with a score of 290, 10 short of perfect.

Six teams rolled in the tourney yesterday. About 14 more are expected to wallop the maples next Sunday. Yesterday was the first day of the events. Nearly 300 spectators were present.

Examinations to Take Precedent Over Athletics

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Jan. 26—The quest for Phi Beta Kappa keys will take precedent over block letter aspirations this week in Ohio colleges at mid-year exams hold basketball activities to a minimum.

Leaders in the three divisions are in little danger of being toppled during the next six days. Wooster with six victories and no defeats, and Mt. Union with five victories and no blemishes are out in front in the Ohio circuit while Ohio Wesleyan holds front position in the Buckeye with a quartet of triumphs and Defiance has turned back three foes without a loss to stay on top in the Northwest group.

Wooster established itself as one of the highest scoring teams in the state when it ran up 113 points in two games last week, defeating Kent, 53 to 35, Wednesday night and Ashland, 60 to 46, Saturday night.

Mt. Union kept its conference slate clean with a 43 to 19 victory over Baldwin-Wallace Tuesday night, but met its second defeat of the season Friday night at the hands of Wittenberg, 34 to 33.

Only Case and Kent State stand in the way of Wooster and Mt. Union this week, Wooster going to Cleveland to play the scientists Saturday night and Mt. Union traveling to Kent the same evening.

Miami proved to be a stepping stone for two other league teams last week. Ohio university moved out of the cellar at the expense of the Oxford five with a 21 to 18 victory Tuesday night and Cincinnati advancing to second place over Denison by trouncing Muskingum 24 to 18 Saturday night.

Denison missed its opportunity of tying Wesleyan for the associated lead when it dropped a hard fought game to the Bishops last week, 33 to 31, at Granville.

DR. JAMES A. DUMAS

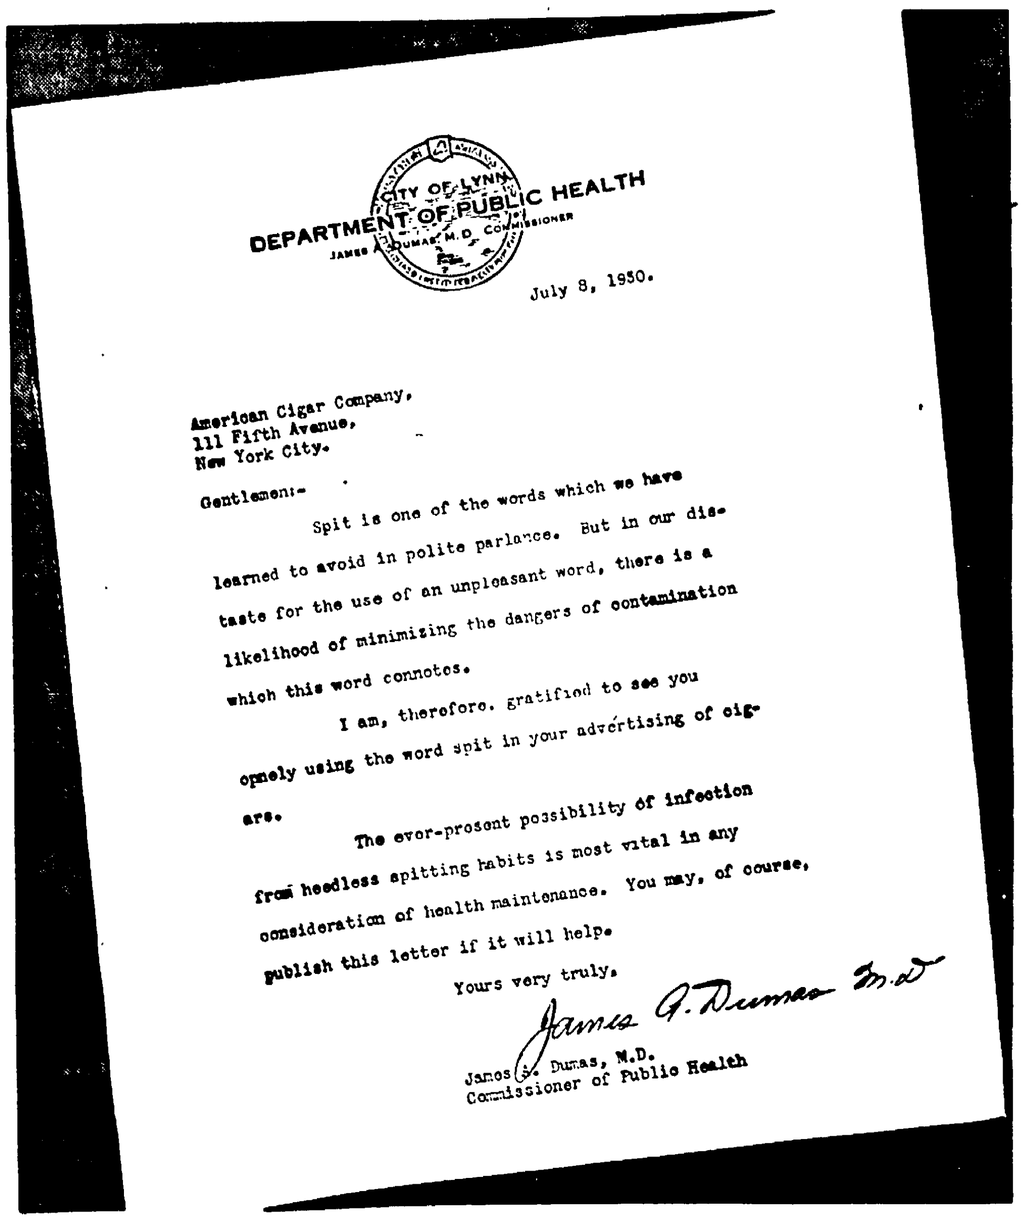
Commissioner of Public Health, Lynn, Mass.



CITY OF LYNN
DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC HEALTH
JAMES A. DUMAS, M.D., COMMISSIONER

July 8, 1930.

American Cigar Company,
111 Fifth Avenue,
New York City.

Gentlemen:-

Spit is one of the words which we have learned to avoid in polite parlance. But in our distaste for the use of an unpleasant word, there is a likelihood of minimizing the dangers of contamination which this word connotes.

I am, therefore, gratified to see you openly using the word spit in your advertising of cigars.

The ever-present possibility of infection from heedless spitting habits is most vital in any consideration of health maintenance. You may, of course, publish this letter if it will help.

Yours very truly,

James A. Dumas M.D.

James A. Dumas, M.D.
Commissioner of Public Health

...one of 56 health officials from 56 different points approving Cremo's crusade against spit or spit-tipping.

Every smoker, every wife whose husband smokes cigars, should read Dr. Dumas' letter.

"Who are the friends of 'Spit'?"

YOU MAY WELL ASK THIS QUESTION WHEN 56 IMPORTANT HEALTH OFFICIALS HAVE WRITTEN SO STRONGLY AGAINST THE EVILS OF SPIT OR SPIT-TIPPING.

Dr. Dumas writes: "The ever-present possibility of infection from heedless spitting habits is most vital in any consideration of health maintenance."

The war against spit is a crusade of decency. Join it... Smoke Certified Cremo—a really wonderful smoke—mild—mellow—nut-sweet! Every leaf entering the clean, sunny Cremo factories is scientifically treated by methods recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meat, Grain, Livestock

Although there is no indication today that egg prices will climb to higher levels this week, grocers today predicted a recovery of prices the first week in February. The price gains will be made when hatcheries start filling incubators around Feb 1, grocers say. Consumption of eggs by hatcheries will relieve a flooded market and send prices back toward normal levels.

Egg prices were down to one of the lowest figures in years Saturday when a dozen eggs were sold for as little as 22 and 23 cents in some stores.

CORN TUMBLES TO NEW LOW

Price Carried Down by Stop-Loss Selling; Wheat Relatively Firm.

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 26—Carried down by stop-loss selling, corn tumbled today to fresh low price records for all deliveries. Rye also broke the season's bottom record, and reached the lowest level in many years. Wheat was relatively firm, influenced by a decrease of stocks at Liverpool. Opening 3 cents off to ¼ up, corn later receded all around. Wheat started at half decline of ⅛ advance, and subsequently scored gains.

With unseasonably high temperatures diminishing demand from feeders, and with commission houses persistent sellers, corn displayed no rallying power of consequence. Statements from official sources at Washington that seriousness of the existing grain situation called for a one-year 50 per cent increase of United States agricultural tariff rates attracted attention among corn traders especially. Before price downturns were checked, may went below 65 cents, and March touched 63.

Helping to steady wheat in the face of corn weakness was continued lack of rain throughout domestic winter crop territory. Reports from Indian telling of good rains there were ignored. An increase of nearly 2,500,000 bushels in the amount of wheat on ocean passage compared with last week was shown, but the total remained much under the figures of a year ago. Oats followed corn rather than wheat.

Provisions were firm influenced by steadiness of hog values.

WINS PRINCE FOR HUSBAND

Pretty Swedish Girl Figures in "Story-Book Betrothal" to King's Grandson.

By The Associated Press.

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 26—One of the story book's most appealing tales that of the pretty girl who marries the prince, appeared today about to come true in Sweden.

The principals in the romance are Prince Linnert, grandson of King Gustave and son of the monarchs second son William, and Karin Nisswandt, daughter of a prominent industrialist of Stockholm who is of Dutch descent.

Court circles deny that stories of impending announcement of engagement of the two are correct, but the newspaper Dobladet says apparently with some authority that an official announcement will be made shortly.

Prince Linnert's mother is the Grand Duchess Marie Pavlovna of Russia, whose marriage to Prince William was dissolved in 1914. She is now earning her living as a stylist in a New York department store. The prince, her son is 21 years old.

Prince Linnert has just finished his military service and has been engaged in farming in southern Sweden. The girl, who is not yet 20, has been with him there and it is understood that they will come to Stockholm shortly to obtain royal assent to their wedding.

This assent will involve the prince's renunciation of his rights to the throne, but since his uncle, the crown prince, has five children these rights are not regarded as of great importance.

NATIONAL JEWISH CAMPAIGN OPENS

$2,500,000 Sought To Back Program Outlined for Palestine.

By International News Service.

NEW YORK, Jan 26—A national campaign in support of Jewish activities in Palestine was launched today following a meeting here of 500 representatives of Jewish bodies. The appeal, sponsored by Zionists and non-Zionists, will be organized by the Jewish Agency for Palestine and $2,500,000 was set as a goal.

"The immediate danger of the disintegration of our economic position," was the reason given for the appeal by Morris Rothenberg, chairman of the campaign.

Dr. Felix Adler, a speaker at the conference, predicted that despite setbacks which Zionism had received, "somehow and in some way the British government will devise a plan by which the Jewish population in Palestine will have its security and rights established."

efficient manner and the champions saw their 7-2 lead converted into a 13-10 lead for the opposition by the mid game intermission.

A defensive battel ensued in the third period, each team scoring but a pair of points each.

In the final frame Waldo again opened up and lengthened its lead. With 40 seconds to play and Waldo holding a five point margin the Christians turned loose a pair of long range shots that found their goal and cut the advantage to a single point. Waldo then checked the rally and the gun cracked before the Christians could score again.

Neither Reformed nor Central Christian 2 had difficulty in winning from Lee Street and St. Mary. Both of the winning fives led throughout the game. The score at the half of the Reformed-Lee Street game was 18 to 9 and at the half of the St. Mary Christian frays, 16-7.

INDORSE CASH PAYMENT PLAN

Legion Committee Favors Immediate Retirement of Compensation Certificates.

By The Associated Press.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan 26—Without indicating preference for any bill now pending before congress, the national executive committee of the American Legion yesterday, indorsed the principle of immediate cash retirement, on application of veterans' compensation certificates.

The cash value of the certificates is approximately $3,500,000,000. The executive committee met at national headquarters as the result of a demand among veterans for cashing the certificates and to settle the dispute over the Legion's action at the national convention at Boston last year, when a resolution favoring payment of 50 per cent of the certificates was tabled. A preamble to the resolution, which was adopted unanimously, stated the convention's action was taken because the Legion "was firmly opposed to initiating such legislation within itself." It added that since then "such question has been initiated elsewhere."

The resolution declared the committee of the opinion that the immediate distribution and circulation of funds "would at this time materially assist in the relief of present distressful economic conditions and put new life into American business and would bring immediate relief to the hundreds of thousands of veterans and their dependents who are now in sore distress and dire need."

However, the committee reaffirmed "as our first and immediate objective, legislation for the further relief of the disabled man and his dependents."

Concluding, the resolution said, the committee "indorses the principle of immediate cash retirement, on application of the adjusted service certificates, without choosing as between any of the specific bills now pending before congress, it being the opinion of the national executive committee that the passage of such legislation would benefit immeasurably not only the veterans themselves but the citizenship of the entire country."

The charming contrast of light top and dark bottom, so important in the new spring mode, is strikingly presented in today's model. The light yoke drapes becomingly, and points in slender fashion to the cleverly styled skirt with its inserted godet and graceful flare. Note the tiny, back-neck tucks that make the yoke fit so perfectly

Pattern 2078 suggests many delighted color schemes in crepe or satin—a light blue top with bottom of dark blue printed in light blue—eggshell top and brown bottom—white and black—two shades of green—flesh and rust, etc. The sleeves are trimmed with buttons covered with the darker fabric.

GIGANTIC SPECTACLE, "HELL'S ANGELS," IS COMING THIS WEEK

Palace To Show Picture That Cost Four Million Dollars.

BY HALLIE HOUCK

THREE years of work and four millions of dollars went into "Hell's Angels," coming to the Palace Tuesday. Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, and has been reserved for Saturday

"Hell's Angels" caused more comment in the motion picture world while it was in the making than any other picture has ever stirred up. Even motion picture magnates can't plunge $4,000,000 into one picture, and no one believed that the tall lanky Howard Hughes, the "angel" of "Hell's Angels," could direct a picture.

He didn't care for the work his regular director was turning out, so he took over the direction himself. This picture "discovers" the platinum blond Jean Harlow and brings Ben Lyon to us after a long screen absence. James Hall plays a leading role.

Eighty-seven planes, including more than a score of true war-time ships, a German Gotha bombing plane and a German dirigible, took part in this air drama. Fifty planes are shown in action simultaneously on the screen.

More than 3,000,000 feet of film were 'ground through "Hell's Angels" cameras during the three years required to film the picture. More than 20,000 persons, including cameramen, technicians and players contributed to the making of the picture.

The cost of negative alone was $311,458, or more than the cost of the average motion picture. Cost of the flying scenes was $2,113,000. The zeppelin sequences cost $512,000 and the interior squences, all told, cost $1,068,000 The grand total was $4,001,458.

The money comes from the Hughes Oil Co. and the Hughes Tool Co., two of Texas' biggest firms. Howard Hughes inherited the companies when his father died six years ago.

And in spite of all of his "fool ideas" attributed by the moguls of Hollywood, his picture is showing magnificent box-office returns that mean a profit of $1,000,000 Figure it out.

CONSTANCE BENNETT'S PICTURE AMONG BEST

One of the best pictures we've seen in a long time is Constance Bennett's Sin Takes a Holiday" showing at the Palace tonight for the last times Another on the "preferred" list.

An unusual twist to a delightful story, sparkling dialogue, grand acting, and we guarantee you an evening of choice entertainment. Leave the children at home, they wouldn't understand what this model of sophistication is all about. pIOb¼¼Il cmfw xz

Acting honors are shared all around. Kenneth MacKenna is a happy choice as the leading man, and Basil Rathbone is his usual sleek, man-of-the-world self as the other man.

Kenneth is a lawyer with a clientele in the "400." One of the women in his set files suit for divorce so that she can marry him.

BEN LYON

Not liking all the publicity and not wanting her for a wife, he marries his secretary, Miss Bennett, and immediately ships her off to Paris on a honeymoon by herself.

And when she starts to buy her clothes, the women in the audience will curl up with envy. Basil Rathbone shows her around Paris, loans her his villa and makes everything lovely. When he proposes a divorce from MacKenna and marriage with him, she returns to New York to find out just what the state of affairs are with her own husband. Of course everything ends happily, but the director and his cast did an unusually good job with the ending. By all means see "Sin Takes a Holiday," if you like sophisticated drama. H .H.

INFANT BURIED

Elliker, pastor of the First Reformed church officiated, and interment was made in Fairview cemetery.

'RED' GRANGE MAKES STAGE DEBUT HERE IN MINSTREL SHOW

Veteran of University of Illinois Gridiron Turns Actor.

HE came, we saw, and the kids applauded. "Red" Grange made his Marion theatrical debut yesterday afternoon at the Ohio. He's here to appear tonight, Tuesday afternoon and Tuesday night in a stage show, "The Spirit of Minstrelsy."

The two end men in the show pull the jokes and funny stories and there's some clog and soft shoe dancing and singing. A highlight of the act was the appearance of John Healy, over 70 years old and for years with the Al G. Field minstrels. He appeared in the make-up he wore in these famous minstrels and sang "Old Black Joe."

"Red" acts as interlocutor. He'd look more familiar to his audiences in football togs, but he flashes the old smile, speaks in a pleasant voice and his audience is satisfied.

A little of his history in sports he tells to Mrs. George Primrose, widow of the late George Primrose of minstrel fame. They have a "heart to heart" chat at the close of the show.

The picture at the Ohio is "Reno," the comeback picture of Ruth Roland, the heroine of many a serial story 10 years ago. The title tells you the story, all about a big divorce suit and an old love affair. The 10 years have told on Ruth Roland, but her fans will enjoy seeing her. There's an automobile chase that reminds us of the hair-raising thrillers she used to make.

EDMUND LOWE PLAYS COAST GUARD PICTURE

A couple of big scenes, a train wreck and the burning of a ship, are included for good measure in "Men on Call," at the Marion tonight and Tuesday. Edmund Lowe, Mae Clark and William Harrigan are the principal characters.

The story starts with Lowe as a locomotive engineer and in love with Mae Clarke. His faith in her is shattered and in thinking of himself he forgets to watch the signals, runs through a switch set against his train and wrecks it.

After six months as a down-and-outer, he joins the coast guard. Lowe and Harrison meet Miss Clarke and Harrigan falls in love with her. Lowe tells him she's the girl who caused his ruin following day a ship [illegible] Harrigan is hurt and [illegible] after him and brings though he is burned.

The Stars Say—

For Tuesday, Jan. 27

A PARTICULARLY lively and spirited state of affairs may be looked for on this day, according to an interesting. If conflicting chain of astral activities. Old obstructions swept away will make room for much progress, but this may be hampered by excitability, impetuosity and uncontrolled conduct or speech. With firm reliance and self-control, grasping splendid opportunities alertness as to deception and safeguarding employment excellent results may be accomplished. Literary matters of every character should thrive.

Those whose birthday it is are on the threshold of a particularly enterprising and progressive year. Old obstacles should be disposed of, new opportunities invite exceptional exploitation, and new contracts should be advantageous. But all good fortune may be nullified by reckless actions and ungoverned speech or disputes. Those in employment are urged to be more than careful not to merit reproof.

A child born on this day should be versatile, industrious clever, resourceful and should make brilliant success, but must practice firm self-control and poise.

A train of thought runs regardless of time-tables.

NIGHT COUGHING

Quick and Safe Way To Stop It!

Whatever it is due to— cold, catarrhal condition of the throat, dust irritations or smoking—night coughing can and should be stopped! Nothing will pull you down faster, for it not only deprives you of needed sleep, but it tears you to pieces.

At the first sign of a cough, take good old "Piso's for Coughs." It does the five things necessary to stop a cough and repair the damage done. It checks the cough spasm, loosens the mucus, opens the air passages and soothes the inflamed tissues. At the same time, it has a tonic value that tends to build up what the cough tears down. Only Piso's supplies these five vital effects and it contains no opiates and does not upset the stomach. Safe to give even to babies. All druggists sell Piso's in 35c and 60c sizes. Be sure you get "Piso's for Coughs."—Adv.

FARM WAGES AT LOW LEVEL

Average in Ohio Above That of Country in General, Report Shows.

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 26 — Farm wages are at the lowest level of the past 10 years and the supply of labor available in the country for farm work is estimated to be 70 per cent greater than the demand, a bulletin issued here today by the Ohio Farm Bureau Corporation says.

The bulletin continues the average wage in Ohio computed by the government at $1.80 a day, $2.35 without board—but, statistically, these averages are probably too high, inasmuch as a number of reports have been received of offers to work for lower wages.

The Ohio average daily wage of $1.80 a day with board is higher than the average for the United States. The same figure for the South Atlantic states is only one dollar, and in South Central states is 95 cents. In the North Atlantic states the average daily wage with board is $2.19. These figures place Ohio among the states with a high average farm wage rate—but lower, by far, than in previous years.

In Other Sections

These wages are scarcely higher than the 1910 to 1914 rate in the southern states, though in the North Atlantic states wages are still almost a dollar a day higher than the pre-war average. Farm wages are 25 cents a day higher in the North Central Section.

Farm wages of all kinds average 29 per cent higher than pre-war. Last October the average was 50 per cent above pre war, and a year ago the average was 59 per cent higher than before the war. These figures show the extent of the deflation in farm wages over the past few months.

It is interesting, the bulletin ventures, to compare the facts that farm wages are 29 per cent higher than before 1914, while prices for farm products are less than 10 per cent higher. These comparisons are based on wage rates and not on total payments for labor. Without doubt, farmers are employing less labor than formerly as a result of the wide use of machinery.

This sudden drop of 21 per cent in the index of farm wages since last October is a significant indication of the extent of the return to the country. It also shows that farming today is not in position to make use of the increased labor force.

Advantages Over City

The farmer in Ohio who produces a considerable part of his living and who is not overburdened with fixed expenses is inconvenienced, but he is living today without difficulties which are so noticeable in the cities. On the other hand, the family returning to the country without supply of food raised on the farm finds the comparison between wages and costs of living very acute, and faces practically the same difficulties that are encountered in the cities.

Food prices are 37 per cent above 1913, according to a recent governmental report. This percentage is the average based on quotations at retrial of the leading articles of food.

Retail food prices are showing a sharp downturn as compared with 1913. The index a year ago was 36 per cent above 1913, as compared with the present relative figure of 37 per cent above the average for the same year.

Throughout the year 1930, there was generally a decline in retail food prices.

FEBRUARY TO BE GOOD CLUB MONTH

Marion Kiwanians Have Full Program; To Visit Carey.

Marion Kiwanians will find February an unusually attractive month so far as club programs are concerned. Three outstanding meetings have already been scheduled for the club.

Thursday night, Feb. 8, the month's program will get under way when a delegation of the local club visits the Carey group in a night meeting to carry out the first step in a contest among clubs of the district sponsored by Dr. C. L. Harding of Bellevue, lieutenant governor of the district.

The club will take with it a chest which will contain two envelopes. In one will be a list of all members attending the joint meeting, and in the other will be a $2 check. The chest will be passed to each club in the district in a series of joint meets, and the group sending the largest delegation to a neighboring club will receive a trophy in a district meeting to be held in Marion when the chest has visited all 13 clubs in the district.

Howard Kay will entertain Marion and Carey Kiwanians with James Whitcomb Riley's poems.

Francis Beverley Kelly of Delaware, publicity man for the Ringling Brothers circus, will entertain Kiwanians and their wives in a ladies' night party at the Marion club on the night of Feb. 12. The entire evening will be a circus party.

Club members and a number of Marion county farm leaders will get their heads together for the betterment of both groups in a farm meting Feb. 26. John Clark, Marion attorney, club member, and farmer, will be in charge of the meeting.

QUICKEST WAY TO KNOCK A COLD

Millions Say of This Proved Way You Feel Like a New Person Almost Before You Know It

If you want quick relief from a cold, go back to first principles and use something you know does the business— don't start "trying" a lot of fancy ideas or remedies. Even a "little" cold is too dangerous to take chances on.

Get Hill's Cascara Quinine. A scientific formula made to do ONE THING WELL: to knock a cold in a jiffy, not to cure a hundred different things.

Take two tablets now. Then follow directions on box. Drink lots of water, too—that's all. Soon those mean, aching pains in the head and body begin to go; the cold breaks up; poisons leave your system. Almost before you know it, you feel like a new person.

If it doesn't do that, your money back. Get a box now. You'll be surprised at the speed with which it works. Costs only a few cents.

Daily Proverb—"He that feasteth a flatterer and a slanderer dineth with two devils."

Governor White has abolished twenty-five jobs, a Columbus wire tells us, saving the state $35,000 in salaries. Can it be that our "patriots" have been drawing but $1,400 a year?

All water records were broken last week when Kaye Don drove the speed boat, Miss England II, over 100 miles an hour, beating the record of 987 miles made in the same boat by Sir Henry Segrave. And thus the mad race for speed, more speed, goes on.

The Argentine cabinet has ordered the salaries of all government employes drawing over $69 a month reduced from twelve to eighteen per cent. What a yell would go up were anything like that to be attempted up here?

Spain and Croatia are to be added to the list of European lands being ravaged by influenza, augmenting the seriousness of the situation in each resulting from abnormal unemployment. Really, there is something in that old saying to the effect that it never rains but it pours.

Senator Howell, of Nebraska, told the members of the upper house of congress last week that the national capital fairly laps up liquor. If the senator has just found this out, he would be the very last man ever we would pick for a voyage of discovery.

It is now estimated that the recent rock slide in the American waterfall at Niagara is 200 feet wide and sixty-five feet deep, approximately 10,000 square feet of the surface of the cliff representing about 75,000 tons of rock having crashed into the gorge. The story of last week is one which wasn't overstated in the telling.

Following the lead of Minnesota, Kansas has moved to restore capital punishment, twenty-one years' experimentation having demonstrated that under the imprisonment system crime shows steady growth. Can it be that the walls of the sob-sisters are no longer to prove effective?

A Yale professor has set the earth's age at 1,852,000,000 years. If he's right, civilization wasted an awful lot of time before it started to get busy.

A bill against gun-toting is being drafted by the Illinois legislative committee, which is the customary legislative course. Being practically assured that all the gunmen, gangsters and thugs of the state are well supplied with firearms, the legislators will now proceed to pass a law to prevent law-abiding people from carrying them—a law which will be no more respected by the criminals than any of the laws they scorn.

One Encouraging Result.

In the midst of the resounding hue and cry now being raised in the country concerning business depression comes one satisfying message from the department of labor which shows that the people of the nation have been given a salary boost of 21.5 per cent. in 1930 through the workings of various economic forces.

The increase appears in a wholesale commodity price index prepared by the department of labor and covering fifteen major groups and forty-one sub-groups which reveals that the 1926 commodity dollar had a purchasing power of $1.270 during December, 1930, as compared with $1.061 for the twelve months before.

Leading the list of main groups was "farm products," the 1930 dollar value of which advanced 34.9 cents during the year and now stands at $1.33 on 1926 values. Grains, under this main group, could, in 1931, be bought on the basis of $1.563 for the 1926 value.

Food values of the 1930 dollar advanced 20.3 cents during the year, the index in December last standing at $1.222. Hides and leather products' dollar value increased 16.5 to an index of $1.096 and textile products' value was enhanced to the extent of 28.1 cents, this index standing at $1.381 in December. This year's dollar increased 18.8 cents when expended for fuel and lighting materials, the 1930 index for this main group standing at $1.418.

By the cold process of mathematics the labor department thus finds that even such a major economic ill as the present business depression can have its benefits, taking form in lowered living costs as a result of an increased purchasing power.

While all agree it would be better if the list of unemployed could be reduced and few would object to adding a few cents to their living expenses if the wheels of industry might revolve at a speed tempo, yet during the comeback period the prospects of a greater purchasing power for the dollar should eliminate much unnecessary complaining.

Yale's New System.

The new system of study, announced last week, to be followed by Yale university next year will have far-reaching effects. What Yale does other universities and pseudo-universities heed, and often follow.

The general aim of the system, which resembles closely that to be tried at the University of Chicago, is to develop more intensely the student's initiative, almost a trite objective were it not for the fact that no system of the dozens conceived has been completely successful. Yale students under the system, are expected to benefit by abandonment of mid-year examination, virtual elimination of compulsory courses and various other changes intended to place the responsibility for a comprehensive education more directly on their shoulders. An incidental result, of course, will be the weeding out of students not in college primarily for an education. They will be forced to educate themselves to preserve their standing, if for no other reason.

It all means that instead of being treated like wayward minors held in control by an elaborate system of punishment and reward, students will be regarded as having a normal amount of initiative and common sense. It will be assumed that every one who goes to college will know enough to do the things that will make him survive. Seen from any angle the idea is sound. It is true, there may be some students left by the wayside who could carry on under the present system, but there will be a compensating increase in the dependability of the students who survive without assistance of a system that pampers them. The world outside the college campus wants results. It does not care how long one has lingered in the neighborhood of learning, or how expertly one can prattle on this or that fancy. Indeed, it does not care if one never has looked inside a book. "What can you do with what you have?" it asks. It requires, first of all, the very initiative that the mass of American academic tradition stifles.

It will be most interesting to educators and educated alike to see what Yale can do with the idea it so courageously will soon put to work.

Governor Charles W. Bryan, of Nebraska, has cut the salaries in six state jobs and abolished three. If this thing keeps on, how can the governor of the various states hope to maintain the customary state machines?

Quebec's liquor sales in 1930 amounted to $27,539,690, the highest in ten years. It is certain, that prohibition hasn't perceptibly quenched the thirst experienced down this side of the international line.

An Auspicious Occasion.

The appearance of Elihu Root before the senate foreign relations committee, last week, to explain his convictions why the United States should enter the World court was a cheering occasion for believers of American adherence. Incapable, perhaps, of stating the arguments for support themselves, they are willing to take the word of this veteran statesman. Their belief in him as an ardent and intelligent advocate of permanent world peace is sufficient to give them implicit confidence in his judgment.

Mr. Root maintained that under the so-called Root formula the United States has the power of veto over any proposal for submitting to the court a request for an advisory opinion relating to a matter in which the United States has or claims to have an interest. His description of this important detail was the high spot in his explanation.

Mr. Root's appearance before the committee, as made evident by the thorough questioning to which he submitted, may turn out to be the turning point in that group's decision. Adherence probably will depend on the understanding obtained regarding the extent of the American veto power—the point on which he elaborated. No man is better qualified to discuss the court than he.

Not to be overlooked by any means in the auspiciousness of Mr. Root's contact with the committee was the observation by many in attendance that they have not seen him looking better since he left the senate nearly fourteen years ago. Among the men whom America holds in high regard Elihu Root stands with the foremost.

University of Pennsylvania scientists have succeeded in stretching the protoplasm of the onion so thin as to be invisible under a powerful miscroscope and each of the twenty times the experiment was made it snapped back to its original form much the same as would a rubber band. In his search for a rubber plant, Mr. Ford might try out the lowly onion.

A number of foreign-tongue organizations in this country are attacking the proposal to register aliens, holding that it classes foreigners with criminals. Are we to be told that the forcing of American visitors in Europe to register classifies them as criminals over there? Absolutely not.

The unemployed of Germany now number 4,765,000, and the ministry of labor estimates that the peak of unemployment will not be reached until March. Serious as the condition over here is, it is excellent compared with that in Germany, where the worst is yet to come and no means is at hands for affording relief.

Maybe we have misjudged soviet Russia. Anyway, we note that the Moscow Rabocher Gazeta is urging that citizens of Russia do not wait until Saturday night to wash up, but take a bath every fifth day.

Despite a ten-per-cent decline in automobile mileage last year, there was an increase of twelve per cent. in the number of traffic accidents and four per cent. in the number of deaths, the totals, as estimated by a conservative Connecticut accident insurance company, being 32,500 deaths and 960,000 injuries. Forty per cent. of all mortalities occurred at street intersections and there were twice as many killed on state highways as on thoroughfares of any other type. If this means anything it is that the great percentage of motor accidents occur on highways or on municipal thoroughfares at points where the greatest number of mechanical safeguards to prevent accidents are located.

PUTTING HIM IN HIS PLACE.

Editorial Opinion.

ON THE BASIS OF VOTES CAST.

In the states which did not gain in population proportionately with other states, and thereby must lose members of the house of representatives under the reapportionment law, many suggestions have been made how to avoid the blow. From the South, where the population is largely native born, proposals have come to rearrange the apportionment so as to exclude aliens from consideration. From northern states which have not gained sufficiently to maintain their delegations numerically, there is the counter-suggestion that non-voters which in the South means negroes—be eliminated from the computation. For ten years congress shirked the plain mandate of the constitution for a reapportionment after each decennial census. Now the census bureau, with full legal authority from congress, has formulated a plan which will be the law unless it is repudiated. If it is, justice and equity, plus the constitution, will have been defied.

The latest comment on the subject is in the form of a table inserted in the Congressional Record by Senator Vandenberg, of Michigan. He did not deny that to base house representation either on non-aliens or actual voters would require an amendment to the constitution. He merely said that he would prefer to work out the allocation that way, although it can not legally be done. But he presented the table to demonstrate just what the house representation would be under those circumstances. As he said, it is "interesting."

With the presidential election of 1928 as a guide, the larger delegations would go to those states which had the greatest number of qualified voters who actually exercised their right of suffrage. New England would gain seven, the Middle Atlantic group fifteen, the east North Central twenty-one, the west North Central fourteen, the Mountain states and the Pacific cluster one each. The South Atlantic states would lose twenty-one, the east South Central fourteen and the west South Central twenty-five.

Mr. Vandenberg's admission that his table is merely "interesting" negatives any thought that he might seek a constitutional amendment to make it effective. But it might be pointed out that his arrangement would penalize the states having qualified voters who, for perfectly excellent reasons—as, for example, where primary nomination meant everything—chose not to vote at all in certain elections. It's usefulness would seem to be limited to a basis for the choice of delegates to national conventions. Hereby referred to Messrs. Fess and Raskob.—New York Times.

ITS PRINCIPAL BUSINESS.

The prohibition question is a question that congress can not ignore, but it is not a question for a lame duck session to try to deal with. It hasn't time for anything of the sort. Beside that, if the voters of the country have given any mandate to the two houses, relating to the disposition of the liquor problem, they have given it to incoming members rather than to those who retire on March 4.

Congress at present has just one big public obligation. It is the principal business of the body to pass the appropriation bills with due consideration for the needs of the nation and the state of the public exchequer. If the members will do that, they will have accomplished all that can be reasonably expected from them. While there are other matters pending, they are all subordinate to this very necessary action.—Detroit Free Press.

Foods That Make for Vitality.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

After all is said and done, child health depends largely on what the mother gives. Every conscientious mother today is in far better position to successfully rear her children than were her forebears. From the viewpoint of knowledge as to what is best for a child, the modern mother has great advantages.

Of course, poverty plays a large part in malnutrition of the child today, as it always has. There are great problems to be solved in the future for better care of the child, in education, physical care, and mental and social development.

Malnutrition comes most commonly from a diet which is incapable of supplying the needs of the body. To keep a child well and happy, he must first of all have the foods that make for energy and strength. If a child has not nourishing foods, when he does not take sufficient amounts of it, when he has improper habits of eating, then something unpleasant is bound to happen. He grows listless, tired pallid and irritable.

The school child, also the pre-school child, for that matter, uses up an enormous amount of energy in his day of work and play. Every movement he makes means just so much energy spent, and this has to be made up in the right kind and amount of food, as well as in rest and sleep. If he doesn't have the food he so much needs, Nature has a way of taking from the child's store of body substances in order to make up the deficiency in food. He loses weight, strength and vitality. His teeth and bones grow soft, every part of his little body suffers.

One of the greatest factors to be blamed for a too small food intake is the school child's breakfast. In the homes where there is plenty is is not uncommon for children to hurry through the meal, taking scarcely a snatch to eat, and then go running all the way to school because they may be late.

Recent investigations among school children showed that thousands of children among the poorer classes had for their breakfasts only coffee and bread. What a travesty on health this. Every child has a right to a good start in the day and in life.

Breakfast should be an unhurried meal, and for his proper nourishment he should have orange juice, or some other form of fruit, cereal and whole milk, and at least a glass of milk. This starts the day right. He has something to go on, to meet the hard work of his morning. He will not be overtired and over hungry at luncheon time.

His luncheon should be adequate. Many a mother sets before her children the easiest thing to find, instead of wholesome nourishing foods that go to make up the well-balanced meal they should have. Dear mothers, you can not afford to take any chances with your child's health when it comes to his food and eating habits.

Every child should have plenty of rest and sleep. One of the shortest roads to malnutrition is lack of sufficient and restful sleep. Young children need a nap or rest at midday. They need plenty of fresh air and sunshine. This is the path to health.

Chemistry, the Dynamic Science.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

The extraordinary development of chemistry, within the past century and more, is almost without a parallel in the history of science. America has been a leader in chemistry, both in teaching and research. It has spent enormous sums for laboratories, equipment and facilities of every sort. Go back 135 years, and we find that chemistry was one of the subjects in the curriculum at the College of New Jersey.

It was not many years before this example was followed by other leading American institutions of higher learning. But it was long before chemistry acquired any marked importance in the scheme of studies, or was realized as an important factor in industry.

A feeling that chemistry was an exhibition subject, rather than a true science, persisted for a long time. Teachers of chemistry devoted almost all their time to making demonstrations of various sorts of known chemical reactions, rather than trying to discover new facts in chemistry.

Many people had an uneasy and quite unworthy suspicion that chemistry was a child of doubtful parentage, deriving from alchemy, which was associated with the highly doubtful project of the transmutation of metals, in particular the changing of the baser metals into gold, or the effort to discover some universal solvent, the philosopher's stone or the elixir of life itself.

Half a century ago, universities were very chary of money for investment into specious laboratories and expensive equipment. Today it is not unusual for universities of importance to build laboratories ranging in cost from a quarter of a million to a million dollars.

In the twenty-nine universities belonging to the Association of American Universities there were registered in one or more courses of chemistry during the past year more than 25,000 students. During the five year period, 1924-1929, the number of graduate students engaged in research in various branches of chemistry increased by more than fifty per cent.

Fairly accurate estimates indicate that, in the more than 1,000 colleges and professional schools in this country, there are at least 50,000 people engaged in the study of chemistry.

A great stimulus to the study of chemistry has been the immense industrial development of recent years. Many industrial plants have their own laboratories, which must be manned by trained chemists. The Great war called vivid attention to the enormous part which chemistry plays in modern life, both in peace and war times. Consider the problem of motor fuel, alone. Within a generation, the colossal automotive industry has been developed.

As Professor William McPherson recently pointed out, in 1896 there were only four gasoline auto cars in this country, one being in a museum and the other incapable of locomotion. Today there are 25,000,000; and in place of going miles to inspect one, we all have to watch our step in order to avoid one. — Copyright, 1931, International Feature Service, Inc.

General Harrison and Tecumseh.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH.

Tecumseh, the Indian chief, met General Harrison three times, the last being at the Battle of the Thames, in Ontario, October 5, 1813, when the British forces under Procter with whom Tecumseh and his Indians were cooperating, were overwhelmed by the Americans under General Harrison, and Tecumseh killed.

Their first meeting was at Vincennes, Indiana, when General Harrison was governor of the Indiana territory. Tecumseh had returned from one of his travels in the interest of his projected grand Indian confederacy, and hearing of the treaty of Fort Wayne, by which the tribes, claiming their purported rights to own extensive lands, had ceded them, grew furious and declared his intention of killing the chiefs who had signed the treaty, and of preventing the survey and settlement of the lands.

Hearing this, General Harrison sent for Tecumseh to come to Vincennes and present his claims. If they were good they would be held as sacred as honor, in spite of what had been done. Tecumseh came in August, 1810, accompanied by a large retinue of warriors. His claim was his old one, that all the land belonged to all the Indians in common, and no tribe had the right to cede any of it without the consent of all. General Harrison dismissed his claim as untenable, and Tecumseh was so incensed that a clash of arms was narrowly avoided.

A few weeks later Tecumseh asked an interview with General Harrison, and this was granted at Fort Wayne. It was the second meeting of the two men. It culminated in each telling the other what he thought of him—by no means complimentary on either side. Tecumseh was fast moving toward a coalition with the British. The next year General Harrison crushed the Indians at Tippicanoe, but Tecumseh was not there. Then Tecumseh, made a brigadier general in the British army, brought all the warriors he could secure to cooperate with General Procter, and with the British forces vanquished on the Thames, the little drama ended.

REPORT HOOVER AND CONGRESS IN BARGAIN

President Agrees Not To Call Special Session If Fund Program Is Backed.

By International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26—President Hoover has struck a bargain with the harrassed leadership in congress.

He has agreed, it was learned today, not to call the senate into special session after March 4 to take up the controversial World court question, provided the leaders get whole-heartedly behind the administration program of jamming the 11 big appropriation bills through and thus removing the need for a special session on that score.

The senate leaders, most of whom are opposed to the President's position on the court, accepted the offer with alacrity. Because of uncertainty as to what the President planned to do with the court and because heretofore he has never committed himself with regard to a special session of the senate alone after March 4, senate leaders have not strained themselves to speed up the appropriation measure. Their theory was that they saw no need for undue haste if Mr. Hoover was planning to hold them here on the World court anyway.

But now that Mr. Hoover has yielded to their insistence against a World court session, it is expected the leaders will step on the accelerator and push the supply bills to completion, thus removing the only real excuse for calling the new 72nd congress into session before June 30.

Thirty-three legislative days remain on this "lame duck" congress. There are 11 big supply bills to enact. None of them has yet been passed in final form, although the house has acted on seven of them and the senate four. Conference committees are engaged in ironing out the differences.

ed belief that if they are caught they will be able to throw further light on the other swindles.

Mrs. Blacklidge, who resigned her federal position Saturday, was planning to leave Chicago in a few days for a more secluded spot to recuperate from the effects of her Springfield experience. She is now in a Chicago hospital.

Cheered by Messages

Since publication of the statement she made last Saturday reiterating her innocence of Litsinger's accusation that she had a part in the Springfield affair, Mrs. Blacklidge has received hundreds of telegrams and letters from friends, offering her their assistance.

"The messages," Dr. M. L. Weinstein, her physician, said, "have greatly helped my patient." "This faro affair, coming on top of the deaths of her husband and son as well as her own ill health of six months ago, have left her in a precarious condition. I feel that with a little further quiet she will become herself again."

TO FILE BRIEFS IN $50,000 DAMAGE SUIT

Court Hears Arguments of Attorneys in Suit Against Store Here.

Attorneys in the $50,000 damage suit of Lloyd W. Ledley, administrator of the estate of Harold Dee Ledley, deceased, against Montgomery Ward & Co. were instructed by common pleas court today to file briefs in the case, after the attorneys had appeared in court to argue the case. There was no jury.

The plaintiff is represented by the law firms of Carhart & Warner and Mouser, Young, Mouser & Wiant, while Montgomery Ward & Co. is represented by the firm of Clark & Arter. The other defendants are represented by Niles & Peters of Tiffin and O. W. Kennedy of Bucyrus.

Former Yacht of Presidents Is Wrecked by Fire

By The Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Jan. 26—Charred and blackened by smoke the once majestic presidential yacht, Mayflower, rested today on the bottom of the Delaware river, her decks awash.

The trim white vessel was swept by fire Saturday night at her dock at the Philadelphia navy yard. Upon and below her decks, where many of the nation's great have stood, the flames raged for several hours, tons of water were poured into her, but fire fighters were unable to save the famous old craft.

Many of the bulkheads in the mid-section of the ship as well as the fine woodwork in the former presidential cabin and the salon were charred.

The cause of the fire remained a mystery today. A special board of inquiry, which will seek to determine the cause, the extent of the damage and the possibility of saving the craft, has been ordered.

In 1922, President Hoover ordered her decommissioned as too expensive to maintain as a presidential pleasure yacht. Recently she was ordered recommissioned to be the flagship of the special service squadron in Central American waters.

citizens of our community to permit the orderly course of justice to have its way and refrain from the slightest display of mob violence."

Three Questioned

All three men, who are colored, were questioned at length by Prosecutor Sears Saturday. Elijah Ralls had just completed an oral story of the shooting at his home Friday night when he leaped through the window.

In his unsigned confession, Sears said Elijah told investigators that he, his brother Walter and nephew Blanton had agreed that "If he (Davenport) comes after us again we'll let him have it."

The prosecutor was reluctant in talking of the confessions obtained from the other men. He said that Walter confessed to firing the shot that fatally wounded Davenport. He also said that the confessions reported that both Walter and Blanton were armed.

Rumors prevailed here this morning that one of the two men held in jail had attempted suicide by hanging last night. Authorities denied the reports.

Reports reaching here from Crestline said that a group of residents there had searched the homes of 20 colored families and confiscated all firearms found.

Sought on Theft Charge

Davenport was shot Friday night when with other authorities he visited the home of Elijah Ralls to arrest Walter on charges of stealing chickens from the Fred Vogel farm near Crestline.

Sheriff Davenport entered the house and started upstairs where the three men were believed hiding. At the top of the stairs the charge from a shotgun hit him point blank. The sheriff fired one shot which struck Walter in the shoulder and then walked downstairs where he collapsed. Davenport died three hours later at the Crestline emergency hospital.

The wound sustained by Walter is not serious. He was to be taken to a local hospital today to have the bullet removed.

After the shooting no difficulty was experienced in placing the three men under arrest. They were taken to the county jail here to await formal filing of charges.

However, Harvey Firestone, biggest American rubber grower in Liberia, with a million acres now planting, has also urged the American government to fight Liberian slavery. American manufacturers depend on industrial proficiency and modern machinery, not on slave labor.

Frozen Sticks of Snow Cure for Birthmarks

By International News Service.

PARIS—Birthmarks are curable, according to the medical correspondent of a Parisian daily, explaining that the freezing away method has proved to be the most satisfactory. It is done with special "snow" obtained from a carbon dioxide gas cylinder. The snow, which gives a temperature as low as minus 80 degrees Centigrade, is moulded into solid sticks and applied directly to the birthmark with the object of destroying it. Very little pain is felt and after a time all that is left of the "Naevus," which is the technical term for the collection of tiny blood-vessels under the skin, is an almost invisible scar.

Cauterisation with acids and other agents are sometimes used but great caution must be exercised. Radium is also beneficial but more costly.

"RED" GRANGE STILL HERO OF KIDS

Football Veteran Hopes To Enter Business When Grid Prowess is Dimmed.

BY HALLIE HOUCK
Marion Star Staff Writer

"SORRY, but Mr. Grange isn't up yet," came over the telephone every half-hour from 9:30 to 11:30 this morning. A reporter's luck. But the last try a sleepy voice announced that it was Mr. Grange speaking and that he was talking from his bed and couldn't possibly be interviewed for a half-hour.

What a difference a half-hour makes. In the lobby of the Hotel Marion stood "the" Mr. Harold "Red" Grange. Well over six feet tall, in dark blue suit with a blue broadcloth shirt, burnt-orange silk cravat, dark blue velvet collared overcoat and a derby. Add to that gray spats, and a ring set with a black stone.

Not Through on Gridiron

Yes, "Red" expects to play football for several years, but he didn't go to college just to play football. From one football victory to another he acquired a pretty thorough general business education which he hopes will provide a weekly pay check after the football glory is dimmed.

And life will not all be a stage upon which "Red" is the featured player. Not for him, this three-a-day, living in a trunk and eating what-have-you.

Not when he has a home in Los Angeles where his father is living. The Granges have moved from Wheaton, Ill., to Los Angeles.

What does he "Red" look like at close range?

Well, red hair, burnished by much combing and brushing to make the waves lie flat, a personable face, not handsome, just ordinary, a smile that shows firm, white teeth, eyes that are dark brown and very direct. "Red" looks like a million other young men of America, except that he is built, shall we say like a Rolls Royce compared to a million T-model Fords?

Grange doesn't contemplate moving pictures again. He doesn't care for them as a means of earning his livelihood.

Oh, yes. Grange didn't get up 'til 11:30 this morning because a friend called on him last night and he had to see him off on the 2-something train this morning.

Football for Kids

No, it wasn't Marion's gay night life that kept him in bed until 11:30—just seeing off a friend.

From the hotel lobby Grange went across the street to the Ohio theater. After autographing a football he went to a window on the top floor of the hotel and threw it down into the mob of kids and grown ups milling around on South State street.

What a day for the kids. They crowded around him to get him to sign slips of paper, anything to remember their hero. And "Red" likes the kids, too, likes the sincerity of their admiration for him.

Matched Sets In Beauty Kit Is Last Word for the Dance

BY JOSEPHINE HUDDLESTON

DID you ever see so many lovely compacts as those on display at present? It seems that every color, size and shape combination possible has been brought into use to beautify the containers in which we carry the finishing touches for our beauty.

The small and large types of compacts are being displayed in shops handling toilet accessories, and I'd like to tell you about some of those I've seen, and perhaps help you make a selection.

The only drawback to the large type of compact is its size, although it certainly is nice to have lipstick, powder and rouge all in one case. Many of these very large compacts have a chain attachment with a loop at the end, which slips over the finger. This type of compact is marvelously convenient to carry make-up in while dancing... BUT...the cases are not nearly as feminine and attractive in appearance as the smaller ones, the large cases being available, almost without exception, in only a plain silver finish. Of course, they would be frightfully expensive if done in enamel, and this may account for the plainness of their finish. Many of these compacts resemble the old "turnip" type of watch which our grandfather once displayed so proudly, although they are somewhat thinner.

A New Design

Among the small compacts a new size is gaining wide popularity, although two cases are required, one for rouge and one for powder. These tiny compacts are about one inch wide and one and one-quarter inches long, and are very thin. The oblong shape is for the powder and the round one is for rouge. Of course the sets are matched, and they come in all of the fashionable shades of enamel finish, with cunning little figures in relief on the one-tone background.

This particular baby-type of compact seems more suitable than the larger ones to me, but only because the coloring and designs are irresistible. Of course, they are not as convenient as the large ones which contain, in one case, all of the make-up necessary for use away from home.

Probably some such plan as using the large compacts with the finger attachment for dancing and the smaller ones which can be carried in one's purse at other times will, eventually, work out. Most certainly the dangling type of compact, which really is a vanity case, isn't appropriate for street or informal use because the appearance of the case isn't compatible with handbags carried at those times.

Acidity
Slams More Doors than Temper!

"Touchy" and grouchy husbands are often only sick men! It's acid in their systems when they bark and growl.

Excess acid formed in the stomach causes acid indigestion with gas, sourness and burning. It sets up putrefaction and fermentation in the intestines which spread poisons through the system and make us weak, tired, nervous and irritable.

A remarkable new corrective of acidity has been developed by a famous 100-year-old pharmaceutical house in Germany. This new acid corrective comes in the form of a small, white tablet, called Magnesia Oxoids. Magnesia Oxoids upon contact with the acid in the stomach, generate nascent, or active, oxygen. Now, as any doctor will tell you, active oxygen when created within the digestive tract does just the things required for acidity. It stimulates the secretion of the alkaline mucus. It checks putrefaction and fermentation in the intestines. It stimulates the activities of the intestinal walls and aids the natural movement of the bowels. All three effects are necessary to a real correction of acidity.

Make this Acidity Test

See for yourself how much acid has to do with your indigestion, your cranky spells, your blue days and sleepless nights. Make this acidity test. Get a package of Magnesia Oxoids from Bradley's Drug store or any other druggist. Take two after each meal. Note the pick-up in your pep and vigor. Mark the new peace of your stomach and nerves. If, after taking the contents of one bottle, you don't notice a decided improvement in your condition, return the bottle to your druggist and he will promptly refund your money.—Adv.

CHAPTER 30

Vivienne Finds Love

The glorious sunshine of a perfect December morning. Vivienne stood on the terrace of Channing's pent-house, looking off at New York. Not far below was the Ambassador, where Aileen would be dressing. Vivienne felt that the day meant as much to Aileen as it did to her.

The future was what she wanted to talk to Channing about. He had called her from his club and was coming over to breakfast. Vivienne had ordered from the restaurant down stairs.

"It's a crime not to ride on a morning like this!" he said as he took off his hat and coat. "By the way, is there any mail?" He picked up a number of letters and magazines and examined them casually. "We mustn't be too long," she reminded aloud. "Aileen is expecting us at 10, and we've all those presents to select and wrap. Dwight, I simply can't believe that the world will change as completely as it did since this time yesterday."

"The world's a crazy arrangement," he observed as he sat down. "And when it's right it all goes wrong. But I guess it must have a sentence. If we'er fair with it, it usually makes amends for its dirty tricks, and turns out to be worth while. Now let's see what this scandal-sheet says about Kronberg's affair."

He was ripping the wrapper from the current week's Tattle Tale. "Why bring that up?" Vivienne made an effort to laugh. Only her desire to look had prevented her from opening the paper before Dwight came.

It was apparent, however, that Dwight was still concerned as he turned the pages in search of the special gossip. Perhaps no mention of the opening would have been made this issue, yet he rather suspected there would be some comment. The chances were the editor would have held space for it. In another moment he found it.

This time he was certain that Vivienne had not furnished the basis of the story. The question was who had? Without speaking, he read it through, then passed the paper to Viv . . .

BEAUTY MASKED AND UNADORNED MARKS THEATER'S OPENING
Audience Bored by Picture—Wonders About Mystery Singer and Model.

Arnold Kronberg, recently recovered from a bullet wound mysteriously inflicted in the private office of his new Kronberg theater opened the doors of that surprisingly tasteful picture palace to a distinguished first-night audience last Saturday evening.

The initial showing of his latest film achievement, which model is said to have also been present. This in itself added zest to the opening since it is whispered that the fair subject of the Kronberg murals rarely leaves the studio where the theater's paintings are said to have been conceived and executed. The film itself is reviewed elsewhere.

Vivienne colored as she looked up. "So I'm installed here!" Instantly her expression grew hard and the line of her mouth were bitter.

"Why can't they mind their own business? Can't anyone ever do anything with a decent motive? Isn't there some way to stop them?"

Channing shrugged his shoulders. "Either ignore or disprove what he calls a "cinema-opera-comique,' proved an incident to the occasion, and frankly we forget what it was all about, although it may have been, and probably was, as good or better than Kronberg's preceding features.

From the moment she entered the box reserved for her, until the close of what amounted to a court levee in the theater lobby, the latest luminary of radio put all other thoughts out of the minds of those assembled. Kronberg's partiality to mysteries only accentuated Broadway's wonder as to who this Lady of the Mask really is and what she does when she is not exploiting a well-known manufacturer's elixirs via the microphone.

Dividing honors with La Masque was the painting of a splendid nude by a noted artist whose fully-dressed they say. You can imagine the result of a libel suit against them. But really, Viv, I think that we've discussed all this before."

He arose to look for his pipe, and Vivienne bit her lip. She remembered his words in this very room on the morning he had accused her of placing a previous article in the columns of this sheet. Of that, she had been guilty—a thoughtless, insane thing to do, but she could not deny it. Then he had lashed her again in his car on their way from Philadelphia. Now this had to spoil the happiness that seemed doomed to die at birth. Oh, why, why did everything Vivienne tried to do always turn out wrong!

"Do you imagine for a moment that I—had this vile thing put in?" She trembled as she faced him.

"No," he said. "Naturally not. It's nothing more than the aftermath—of what can't be helped. As I've told you, it isn't what you are, but what people think. Interpret that rot as you like—as it will be, of course. The article's written cautiously—and every word of it's true. You are living here—"

"You suggested it!"

"With the best of intentions. I think you'll grant. And after I'd declined your offer—of a somewhat different basis."

"Are you going to fling that at me again?" Vivienne's eyes were blazing. But even in her desperation, Viv knew that nothing she could say would counteract or mitigate the force of Channing's statement. "You—shouldn't have let me come here!" she burst our miserably.

"I may have done that deliberately." He spoke with intolerable calmness.

"To teach me another lesson!" She was adorably defiant.

"No, but it's worked out that way I think." Channing pushed back his chair. "Viv, I've always believed in you. I've always known you'd find yourself. And I've hoped that when you did—you'd find out—that I love you."

"Love me!" She laughed. "So you're taking me up! You think that if we're to have the name... Well, you're mistaken!"

Channing moved slowly toward her, a curious smile on his face. "No," he said. "I'm not mistaken—and I never have been, Viv, you're going to marry me. Maybe you didn't know it—but I did—from the first."

To Be Continued.

GOLF STARTED ADAMS ON WRITING SUCCESS

He's Author of Next Serial To Appear in Star; Begins Next Thursday.

GOLF started Herbert Adams on his successful career as a writer of detective stories, after he had forsaken the profession of literature to become a real estate salesman. Adam's latest novel, "The Crime in the Dutch Garden," will appear serially in The Star, beginning Thursday, Jan. 29.

HERBERT ADAMS

Adams, at the age of 20, reviewed his efforts to write, including a published novel, several short stories and bits of verse, then promptly found a job selling lots and acreage. The writing-idea persisted, however, and his realty experience soon ended.

Golf Reveals Plot

A golf match gave him the plot for his first successful detective story, "The Secret of Bogey House," which starts with a lost ball. 'Golf thereafter was Adams' prime hobby.

He designed his own home overlooking a course and pursued the game intensively. "Golf is the greatest force for good in the world," he declares, "for it keeps the middle-aged out of mischief." He regards wood-chopping as the best exercise available and says, "it may even be useful.

The golf motif appears again in his latest story, "The Crime in the Dutch Garden." His own home and the adjoining links provide much of the novel's setting. The first installment will appear in The Star Thursday, Jan. 29.

OATS CROP BOOSTED BY USE FOR FEED

Increase in Output Indicates Substitution for Corn on Ohio Farms.

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 26.—With an estimated increase in the Ohio oats crop of 29 per cent over a year ago, this grain is no doubt being used as a substitute for corn in the hog ration, according to J. W. Wuichet, extension specialist in animal husbandry at Ohio State university.

Usually oats have a feeding value of from 80 to 85 per cent as much as corn, pound for pound, which means that if fed with discretion along with other less bulky feeds, two bushels of oats will have only slightly less feeding value than one bushel of corn.

Experiments indicate that the most economical and rapid gains are made where oats are limited to 25 per cent or less of the feed given, Wuichet states. But when oats are abnormally low in price in comparison with corn, they may constitute up to 4.25 per cent of the total ration with fairly satisfactory results. However, if more than 25 per cent is fed, gain will invariably be slow and the cost of feed per pound of grain will likely rise.

Larger amounts of oats may be fed to brood sows, and where growth is considered a more important factor than rapid or economical gains, it may also be increased in the pig ration.

As in the case of wheat, Wuichet points out, oats should always be ground before using as a hog feed with the possible exception of rations for the brood sow. It is not necessary to grind the oats fine for the best results.

Hulled oats are also very satisfactory as a part of the hog ration. According to trials at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment station, hulled oats substituted entirely for corn have given very satisfactory results from the standpoint of the average daily gains and the amount of feed required to produce 100 pounds of pork. Where hulled oats formed approximately 27 per cent of the total grain ration, the rate of gain is higher than either corn or oats alone.

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

YESTERDAY was Sunday. It was a sunshiny day and the wind was in the south. It was even warm before the sun came up when I went out to the barn to milk the dummed brutes the bunch was almost all there, except Nibs who has got the job of milking the Scanlon cow and when summer comes he will probly have to take her to the pasture along with the rest of us and our cows, and then we will get a chance to see what she will do if anyone tries to ride her. I wish I had a cow that I could pull its tail and make its neck shorten up and then let go and its head would pop out again. I could have fun with a cow like that. Anybody could.

Maggie and Younisa and Feeble went in the house with me when I went in to strain the milk and feed my face. I didn't like that so well, because Sunday is the day I get washed, and my ant makes me take my arm out of my shirt after she has unbuttoned it and let it hang, so she can wash my neck better. She hasn't found out yet that a kid's neck don't reach below his shoulders.

Feeble asted my grandfather to come out in the yard with her, and he put on his hat and scarf and went out and she led him over to the middle of the yard, and everyone was standing in the back door and in the door of the barn watching them, and my grandfather asted her, "What do you want me out here for?" and she told him, "I want to help you watch out for the first robin." Then everybody remembered the stuffed robin we had fooled him with and hollered, and he got red and came back in the house. And then we had breakfast, and when my ant took me out in the kitchen to wash me I snuck the door to the dining room shut and locked it so the girls couldn't get out in the kitchen and my ant had hold of me scrubbing me, and I couldn't open my eyes for soap, when I heard the outside door open, and then I heard Feebie say, "Isn't he cute!" And when I went to open my eyes to see if they were all there I got them full of soap, and then I opened my mouth to tell my ant to be careful and I got my mouth full of soap. A fella can't do anything with an ant. We slid till it was time to go to Sunday school, but I was so clean I almost caught cold.

slushier than yesterday, but it was slushied than yesterday, but it was getting colder at milking time and the sky was covered up with clouds. Younisa came over after supper with her folks and her and me played checkers. I like to play checkers with her, but it would be fun if she acted like my grandfather and kicked the board up to the ceiling when I beat her. But I don't beat her if I can help it, and she don't beat me if she can help it. I didn't walk home with them.

Catarrhal Deafness May Be Overcome

If you have catarrhal deafness or head noises go to Henney & Cooper or your druggist and get 1 oz. of Parmint (double strength) and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucous stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has catarrhal deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.—Adv.

"Heart of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON

Lillian, Sensing Something Afoot Tackles Madge for Explanation.

SO LILLIAN had seen that something was wrong.

I might have known, I told myself, with a feeling of contempt at my lack of insight. During the many years of my close association with Lillian, I never have known her perceptions or her intuition to fail her in an emergency. Yet I fatuously had believed I had so camouflaged the sinister visit of the Chinese messenger to the kitchen, that Lillian had suspected nothing.

"Just what makes you think we need a cyclone cellar?" I asked.

She flashed me one of her old impish smiles at me.

"You lack the poker face, old dear," she said, "as I have told you many times before. Besides Katie is too anxious about you since the baby came to say nothing of standing in mortal terror of Katherine's rules—to summon you to the kitchen for anything so trivial as a row with a tradesman—the very transparent excuse you gave when you came back.

"You needn't blush," she added, and I was conscious that my cheeks were crimson. "Harry and Dicky and even your father are playing the roles of second sleuths to perfection, and there is an air of deep, dark mystery about the whole place which could be cut with a cheese knife."

She stopped and looked at me meditatively.

"I just was getting ready to tell you all about it," I said, "but in order to make you understand what has happened I shall have to dip into the past in a way that I am afraid will give you pain."

The Old Lock Box

"I may yell in a dentist's chair, but I never kick the drill out of his hand," she retorted grimly. "Go ahead! I am ready for anything, even the knowledge that Marion is involved in something which may grieve me terribly."

"Don't be an anointed idiot, just because you know how," I snapped voicing an oft-repeated comment of my mother-in-law's. "You no doubt will be annoyed at Marion, but I give you my word that she has done nothing which should really grieve you."

"All right, all right," she said impatiently, "I'll take your word for it, but get along with the story."

"It goes back to the death of Marion's grandmother," I said. "Do you remember the box which the dying woman gave the child?"

Far back in the brilliant depths of her eyes there flamed a sudden comprehension.

"That old lock-box!" she exclaimed. "I remember. It was the most prized possession Mother Morton had. I always supposed it held the pitiful keepsakes which an old woman treasures. What about it?"

"We are beginning to think it holds something far more valuable than sentimental keepsakes," I said gravely and then, using as few words as possible, I told her of Marion's bringing the box to me when she went away to school the year before.

"She told me then," I said, horribly embarrassed, for relating this to Lillian was a task most distasteful to me, "that her grandmother had told her she must never show the contents to you in fact—to anyone, if she could help it—but the prohibition was special and emphatic concerning you."

"That was because the poor old woman was obeying the injunction her son must have left upon her. There weren't many hates, you know, as lively as that with which Tom Morton favored me."

WANT TO LOOK YOUNG?

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to patients for years.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They help bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 50c, 60c.—Adv.
